

Simply wandering through the city's streets is an adventure in itself. Start with a leisurely stroll along the waterfront. You can enjoy the sea breeze, watch the boats coming and going, and soak in the views of the harbor. The area around the harbor is a great place to people-watch, and you'll see a diverse mix of locals and tourists. Take a walk through the city's parks, such as Thurston Gardens, a beautiful botanical garden where you can admire tropical flora and relax in a tranquil setting. The gardens are a great place to escape the hustle and bustle of the city and enjoy a moment of peace.

Suva's architecture is a mix of colonial and modern styles, and exploring the city's streets is like taking a walk through history. You can admire the grand colonial buildings, such as the Government Buildings and the Fiji Museum, from the outside, even if you don't go in. The city is also home to numerous churches and temples, each with its own unique architectural style. Observing these buildings from the outside is a great way to experience the city's diverse cultural influences. Take time to explore the public areas, and enjoy the atmosphere. Remember to be respectful of local customs and enjoy the free sights and sounds of Suva. Suva is a great city for those who enjoy walking and exploring.
